Equal and Exact Justice to all Men,

ligious or Political.--Thos. Jefferson.

SATURDAY, NOV. 22, 1890.

THE U. S. SENATORIAL SITUATION AS WE SEE IT.

It is, so we consider, a virtue of the STATE CHRONICLE that it has confidence in its fellow men. We practice the good old maxim: "Believe a man to be honest until he shows himself otherwise." We believe in the honesty, the integrity and worth of the average man. We believe likewise in his patriotism and his devotion to the best interests of his State and country. If he does wrong, nine chances to one it is an error of the head and not of the heart; and nothing affords him such delight as to right his wrong and repair the evil occasioned by it.

Believing in the honesty and integrity of the people of North Carolina and of their chosen representatives, the STATE CHRONICLE has lost no sleep over the U. S. Senatorial question, nor is it likely to do so. A very large majority of the gentlemen elected to the General Assembly are instructed to vote for HON. ZEBULON B. VANCE to be his own successor. In every county in the State except one these instructions were unconditional. The legislators-elect accepted their nominations from these conventions, and are bound by every honorable consideration to obey these instructions, and they will do it.

"But," says a doubter, "suppose they are personally opposed to Senator VANCE and do not wish to obey the instructions--what then?" Well, we will not suppose that they are opposed to the great man who has done more to advance the interest of the farmer than any other hundred men in the State, because we know that many of them are devotedly attached to him and prefer him to any other man. But if there are any of the instructed members who prefer some one else, that doesn't alter the obligation at all. They are not sent to represent themselves, and when they accepted the nomination they accepted also the instructions and no man with a grain of honor would prove false to so sacred an obligation.

"But," continues a doubting Thomas, "suppose that some of them should say: 'I was instructed, it is true, but it was rushed through the convention, and manipulated by a ring, and I will not obey it, what then?' Well, we will not suppose that any man nominated and elected to the Legislature would so stultify himself. But if there should be such a man, his charge that the instructions were "manipulated" is tantamount to his saying "I was nominated for the Legislature, it is true, but the nomination was rushed through the convention, and I am the nominee of a few ringsters." No man, elected by the Democrats will so stultify himself or so discredit his own credentials. If in any county the instructions were "rushed through" over the majority we have not heard of it. If any man was nominated and he was unwilling to be instructed, it was his duty to do what Mr. MOSES STROUP, of Gaston county, did. After he was nominated, he was asked if he was for VANCE. He said: "I have always been a VANCE man, but I refuse to commit myself." A motion was then made to instruct him for VANCE and it failed. He is elected and is free to vote as he may please. We believe he will support Senator VANCE, but if he should not do so he has violated no sacred trust. In Wayne county there was some division and difference of opinion among the people after the legislators had been nominated and instructed for VANCE; and several weeks before the election the candidates and the Executive Committee agreed to submit the question "For VANCE, or 'Against VANCE," to the people on election day. This was done, and, by a majority of over 1,500, the Democratic voters of Wayne instructed their members to vote for Senator VANCE's return. The action in Gaston and in Wayne and Wake (where a primary may be held if there is more than one candidate) was entirely proper and honorable. A protest before the election against Mr. VANCE was an inalienable right of every citizen. And now there is no reason why any man should not speak against or write against the return of Senator VANCE if he desires to do so, PROVIDED HE WAS NOT A MEMBER OF THE CONVENTION THAT INSTRUCTED FOR VANCE. If so, he ought not to say anything that could be construed into advising a member of the Legislature to violate his instructions. In fact, whether in a Convention or not, no honorable man will advise or try to induce another to disobey instructions, or prove untrue to his pledges.

The CHRONICLE, in all earnestness, protests against any more warfare. There is no need for discussion or difference. Senator VANCE is elected. We know that the people consider it settled, and that they do not relish a continuation of the war.

Let us have peace!

YOUNG MEN TO THE FRONT.

The Lenoir Exchange has a very interesting article showing that young men in North Carolina are forging to the front. Among them it makes mention in public life of Mr. Wm. T. CRAWFORD, Congressman-elect from the Ninth District; Judge Elect R. W. WINSTON, Solicitor-elect E. W. POU, Jr., Judges SHEPHERD and BOYKIN, already on the Supreme and Superior benches; in educational circles of Profs. McIVER, ALDERMAN, WILLIAMS, SMITH, CARLYLE, President CROWELL; in the ministry, Rev. P. H. HOGE, R. C. REED, J. L. WHITE and C. W. BYRD; in the railroad work, general manager MYERS of the Seaboard system of railroads, superintendent JOHN H. WINDEN, of the same system, and J. W. FRY, of the C. F. and Y. V. railroad; in journalism, Mr. ROBT. HAYDS, of the Charlotte Chronicle, and the editor of the STATE CHRONICLE.

The Exchange gives these names merely as an index of what young men are doing in North Carolina, and the opportunity that is open to them. We might easily add a whole column of names to this list of young successful North Carolinians many of them quite as conspicuous in their callings. Space only prevents our doing so at this time. At some day in the near future we intend to pursue this subject showing the conspicuous success attained by young men in the several callings and trades. The new life and progress of the State along new lines is largely due to the push and vim and talent of the young men, those who knew nothing or little of the war and who have none the prejudices which that struggle necessarily engendered. If there are fewer young men in public life in North Carolina than in some of the States, it is probably because they have turned their talents and thoughts in the line of industrial development. The man who builds or helps to build a town; runs a factory; operates a mine; or does any similar work is doing more for the enrichment and glory of the State than any public man can do, however patriotic he may be.

A TRUTH IN AN APHORISM.

Referring to the late Republican downfall, a bright Republican said to the CHRONICLE: "The looters and brigands have hypnotized political enthusiasm into political paralysis."

When President HARRISON approved the McKinley bill Congressman MASON, of Illinois, at his own personal solicitation was presented with the pen with which the Presidential signature was written, "to keep as a legacy to my (his) children and their posterity." As Mr. MASON was defeated in a heretofore strong Republican district for re-election, the pen must have been as great a Jonah to him as the McKinley bill was to the Republican party.

A REPUBLICAN SENATOR.

"The Balance of the Ticket Democratic, Thank God!"
[Special Cor. of STATE CHRONICLE]
CANDOR, N. C., Nov. 11, 1890.--You have it wrong from Richmond and Montgomery. We are sorry to say you have it wrong in the 26th "Senatorial district," J. G. Skinner, Republican, is elected instead of J. M. McAnley as you have it. Balance of Montgomery county Democratic ticket is O. K., thank God. M. C. STAINBACK.

Typographical Blunders.

"Why was young Fobbs so anxious to be assigned to the charity concert last night?" asked the managing editor of the city editor.

"I think it was because his test girl sang a solo in it and he wanted to write a lot of gush about her and make himself solid."

"And why is he so anxious this morning to be sent to the revolution in the Argentine Republic?" inquired the managing editor.

"I've an idea," answered his subordinate, "that it is because Fobbs tried to grow critically enthusiastic over his girl's chest notes and they came out this morning as 'chestnuts.'"

He's Not Supporting any Candidate.

(Lumberton Robesonian).
The next Speaker of the House of Representatives will be a Democrat; that is as much as we care to know.

The General Assembly.

We present to-day the list of members elected to the General Assembly as far as we have received the returns. This has been prepared with great care and we believe that it is nearly correct. Of this number there are five lawyers in the Senate and eleven in the House. We shall make corrections from time to time, and will thank our friends to help us perfect this list.

W. E. & R. S. TUCKER & CO.

Just now we are offering some remarkable values in several lines of Dress Goods. Notwithstanding the recent advance in the prices of many lines of dress fabrics, we are able to offer our patrons goods at even lower prices than before.

We begin with a good Henrietta as low as 10c., and this very goods has been bringing 12 1/2c.

12 1/2c.
At 12 1/2c you can get a nice Diagonal. This you invariably pay 15c. for.

25c.
At 25c. you can buy an all-wool Tricot or Flannel. Then a line of Stripes and Plaids, very stylish--at same price.

25c.
A line of beautiful Henriettas at 25c. in all the correct shades for this Fall's wear, and 35c. has been the figures on these goods.

50c.
This price gets lovely all-wool Henriettas (and all-wool stuffs have advanced more than anything else), 40-inch wide, in the best shades, and as many of them as you want. These facts are worth considering.

THE SUCCESS OF THE

Provident Savings Life Assurance

SOCIETY

NEW YORK

Is attracting wide attention, for the following reasons:

1st. The increase in the amount of new insurance in 1889 was 66 per cent. over that of the previous year.

2d. New business in 1889 nearly twenty millions of dollars.

3d. The ratios of payments for Death Claims and Expenses to amount at Risk are LOWER than those of the oldest and largest Life Insurance Companies of New York; and the Ratios of Assets to Liabilities in the Provident Savings Life are LARGER, being $206 for every $100 of Liabilities, while in the three largest of the New York Companies the Ratios are as $127, $118 and $108 to every $100 of their Liabilities.

4th. Life Insurance at ACTUAL COST, that brings insurance within the reach of many heretofore unable to carry it.

5th. It never costs one-half the price charged for it in "Best Old Style Life Companies," whose experience proves that hardly 39 per cent. of their Premium Receipts were necessary to insure the lives of their Policy-holders; while the balance was used besides insurance.

6th. Past experience shows that the better the plans of the Society are known, the greater its income becomes.

To know what these plans are, call at the Company's office in Greensboro, N. C., or on any of my Agents in the State.
